eat : this is my body, which shall be delivered for you : this do for the commemoration of me.

est corpus meum, quod pro vobis tradetur : hoc facite in meam commemorationem.

The Hymn, which then follows, gives us the whole doctrine of the Eucharist, in a sublime and concise wording. It is the one chosen by the Church for singing the praise of the adorable Sacrament : and its last two strophes are the ones she prescribes for the Rite of Benediction, throughout the Year.

HYMN.*

Sing, O my tongue, the mystery of the glorious Body, and precious Blood which was shed as the world's ransom, by Him who is the fruit of Mary's generous womb, Him the King of nations.

Pange, lingua, gloriosi
Corporis mysterium,
Sanguinisque pretiosi,
Quem in mundi pretium,
Fructus ventris generosi,
Rex effudit gentium.

Given unto us, and born for us from the purest of Virgins, he lived in this our world, casting the seed of the word ; and closing the days of his sojourn here, by a way full of marvel.

Nobis datus, nobis natus
Ex intacta Virgine,
Et in mundo conversatus,
Sparso verbi semine,
Sui moras incolatus
Miro clausit ordine.

On the night of the Last Supper, he sat at table with his brethren ; and having fully observed the Law as to its legal repast, he gave himself, with his own hands, as food to the assembled Twelve.

In supremæ nocte cœnæ
Recumbens cum fratribus,
Observata lege plene
Cibis in legalibus,
Cibum turbæ duodenæ
Se dat suis manibus.

The Word made Flesh, makes, by a word, that true bread should become Flesh,

Verbum caro, panem verum
Verbo carnem efficit :

---

* In the Monastic Breviary, it is preceded by this Responsory :

℟. breve.—Cibavit illos ex adipe frumenti. * Alleluia, alleluia. Cibavit. ℣. Et de petra, melle saturavit eos. * Alleluia. Gloria. Cibavit.

Fitque sanguis Christi merum :
Et si sensus deficit,
Ad firmandum cor sincerum
Sola fides sufficit.

and wine the Blood of Christ ; and though our sense may fail, Faith of itself is enough to assure an upright heart.

Tantum ergo Sacramentum
Veneremur cernui :
Et antiquum documentum
Novo cedat ritui :
Præstet fides supplementum
Sensuum defectui.

Then let us, prostrate, adore so great a Sacrament : and let the ancient law give place to the new rite : let Faith supply the senses' deficiency.

Genitori, Genitoque
Laus et jubilatio,
Salus, honor, virtus quoque
Sit et benedictio :
Procedenti ab utroque
Compar sit laudatio.
Amen.

To the Father and the Son, be praise and jubilation, salvation, honour, power and benediction : to Him that proceedeth from Both, be there equal praise !
Amen.

℣. Panem de cœlo præstitisti eis, alleluia.
℟. Omne delectamentum in se habentem, alleluia.

℣. Thou hast given them bread from heaven, alleluia.
℟. Having in it all that is delicious, alleluia.

The Antiphon which accompanies the Canticle of Our Lady, is a fervent exclamation of admiration for the sacred banquet of divine union, and for the living memorial of Jesus' sufferings : it is here that man's soul is filled with grace, and his very body receives the pledge of future glory. The phrase is not completed : the Church seems unable to finish these last words of her love of all that she has received by the Eucharist ; but the gift is too great for human words !

ANTIPHON OF THE MAGNIFICAT.

Ant. O sacrum convivium, in quo Christus sumitur : recolitur memoria passionis ejus : mens impletur gratia : et futuræ gloriæ nobis pignus datur, alleluia.

Ant. O sacred banquet, wherein Christ is received ; the memorial of his Passion is celebrated ; the mind is filled with grace ; and a pledge of future glory is given unto us, alleluia.
