YEAR B

Isaiah 63:16b-17, 19b; 64:2-7

CHAPTER 63

¹⁶For thou art our father, and Abraham hath not known us, and Israel hath been ignorant of us: thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer, from everlasting is thy name. ¹⁷Why hast thou made us to err, O Lord, from thy ways: why hast thou hardened our heart, that we should not fear thee? return for the sake of thy servants, the tribes of thy inheritance. ... ¹⁹We are become as in the beginning, when thou didst not rule over us, and when we were not called by thy name.

²They would melt as at the burning of fire, the waters would burn with fire, that thy name might be made known to thy enemies: that the nations might tremble at thy presence. ³When thou shalt do wonderful things, we shall not bear them: thou didst come down, and at thy presence the mountains melted away. ⁴From the beginning of the world they have not heard, nor perceived with the ears: the eye hath not seen, O God, besides thee, what things thou hast prepared for them that wait for thee. ⁵Thou hast met him that rejoiceth, and doth justice: in thy ways they shall remember thee: behold thou art angry, and we have sinned: in them we have been always, and we shall be saved. ⁶And we are all become as one unclean, and all our justices as the rag of a menstruous woman: and we have all fallen as a leaf, and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away. ⁷There is none that calleth upon thy name: that riseth up, and taketh hold of thee: thou hast hid thy face from us, and hast crushed us in the hand of our iniquity.

²Give ear, O thou that rulest Israel: thou that leadest Joseph like a sheep. Thou that sittest upon the cherubims, shine forth ³Before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasses. Stir up thy might, and come to save us. ... ¹⁵Turn again, O God of hosts, look down from heaven, and see, and visit this vineyard: ¹⁶And perfect the same which thy right hand hath planted: and upon the son of man whom thou hast confirmed for thyself. ... ¹⁸Let thy hand be upon the man of thy right hand: and upon the son of man whom thou hast confirmed for thyself. ¹⁹And we depart not from thee, thou shalt quicken us: and we will call upon thy name.

Mark 13:33-37

³³ Take ye heed, watch and pray. For ye know not when the time is. ³⁴ Even as a man who, going into a far country, left his house and gave authority to his servants over every work and commanded the porter to watch. ³⁵ Watch ye therefore (for you know not when the lord of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cock crowing, or in the morning): ³⁶ Lest coming on a sudden, he find you sleeping. ³⁷ And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch.

The Nicene Creed

n. 18

A11 We believe in one God, the Father, the Almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all that is, seen and unseen. We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ, the only Son of God, eternally begotten of the Father, God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, of one Being with the Father; through him all things were made. For us and for our salvation he came down from heaven, was incarnate of the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary and became truly human. For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate; he suffered death and was buried. On the third day he rose again in accordance with the Scriptures; he ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead, and his kingdom will have no end. We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father [and the Son], who with the Father and the Son is worshiped and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets. We believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church. We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins. We look for the resurrection of the dead, and the life of the world to come. Amen.

The Apostles' Creed

n. 19

A11 I believe in God, the Father almighty, creator of heaven and earth. I believe in Jesus Christ, God's only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried; he descended to the dead. On the third day he rose again; he ascended into heaven, he is seated at the right hand of the Father, and he will come to judge the living and the dead. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

About this Ordinary: The Order of Mass

Postconciliar Missal · the frame the day’s propers are set into · read in English

A finding aid for the shape of the rite, and never a book to celebrate from. Almost every text of this Order of Mass is withheld here, and the two reasons are kept apart at every element because they are different reasons: the approved English is the International Commission on English in the Liturgy’s and this project has no licence to reproduce it, while the Latin editio typica is a post-1929 work of the Holy See for which this project has established no distribution basis at all. What stands in their place is each element’s received Latin incipit, which is a reference and not the prayer. The English that IS here is the ecumenical text of the English Language Liturgical Consultation, which the rightsholder grants freely and which is NOT what is said at Mass in the dioceses of the United States. Where the two differ a reader will see it at once: this text answers the greeting “And also with you” and opens the Creed “We believe in one God”, where the 2011 Roman Missal has “And with your spirit” and “I believe in one God”.

Praying Together, the ecumenical common texts (English Language Liturgical Consultation, 1998) — NOT the approved English of the Roman Missal, which is ICEL’s and is under copyright. This is the ecumenical text agreed among English-speaking churches, and it differs from the Missal’s English in wording a reader will notice. It is offered here because its rightsholder grants free use in terms, and for no other reason. Nothing here may be used for recitation.

editio-typica 48 of 48 elements. The Latin of the postconciliar Missal is a work of the Holy See first published in 1969 and revised in 1975 and 2002, with the emended reprint of 2008. It is a post-1929 foreign work, protected in the United States, and this project has established no distribution basis for it. This repository's own study of this Order of Mass draws the same line, quoting the Latin as evidence for an argument and not as text for recitation. Each element therefore carries its received Latin incipit, which identifies the prayer without reproducing it, and no more. This is the one blocking question for anyone who wants the Latin served here.

icel 39 of 48 elements. The approved English of the Roman Missal for the dioceses of the United States is the International Commission on English in the Liturgy's, © ICEL, and is under copyright until well into the 2060s. It is not reproduced here. Every escape route was tested and each closes: the texts postdate 1929 so no term has expired; the first United States publication of the new Eucharistic Prayers, the 1968 Benziger booklet, carries a facially valid 1909-Act notice, so nothing was forfeited for want of one; registration was never a condition under that Act; and the Copyright Renewal Act of 1992 made renewal automatic for 1964-1977 works. ICEL's own licence terms confine free use to non-commercial worship aids for a single celebration, which this site is not.

Eucharistic Prayer: II. The postconciliar Missal prints four Eucharistic Prayers and the priest chooses among them; the first may always be used, and the Missal states where the fourth may not. The 1962 Missal has one Canon and no such choice, so this control belongs to this missal alone. The option marked default here is the first the Missal itself prints. That is the only order this project can state without preferring one prayer over another, and it is not a recommendation.
